

Features of the World's News as Depicted by the Photographers

American missionary with native helpers on boat on Chinese river.

Shells from a big battleship dropping into the water during target practice

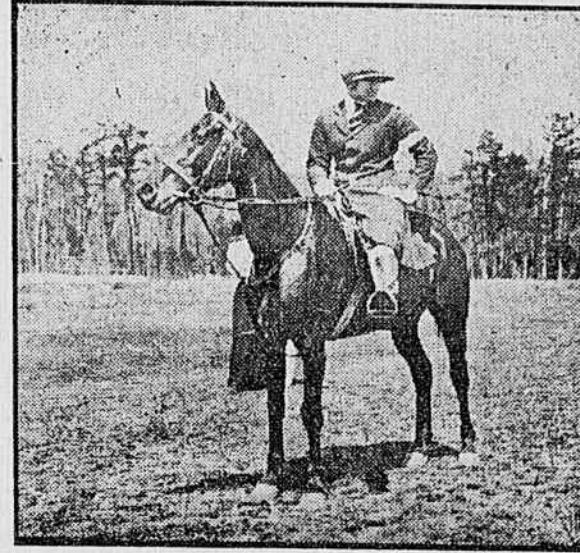

MOHAMMED V., sultan of Turkey, driving in the streets of Constantinople.

Miss Harriet Quimby, considered by many persons the best of America's few woman aviators.

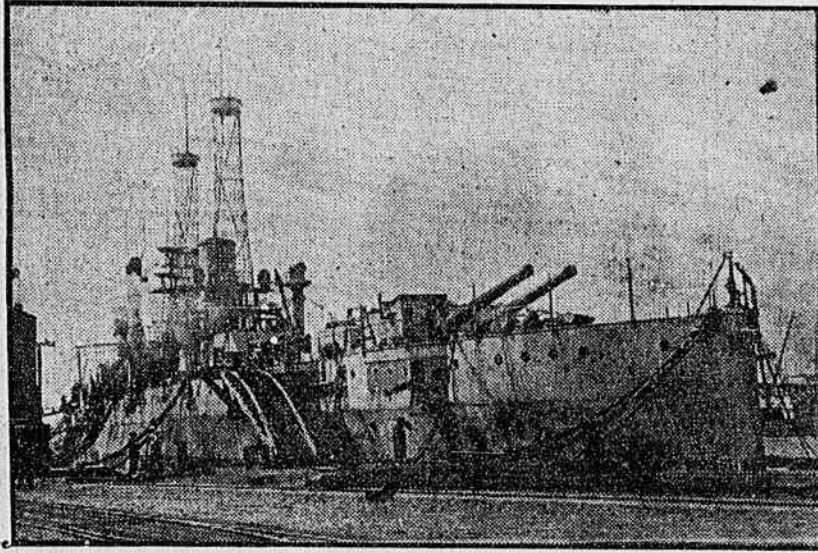

One of the very few women sign painters of the United States is Miss MARGARET MELVIL, of New York.

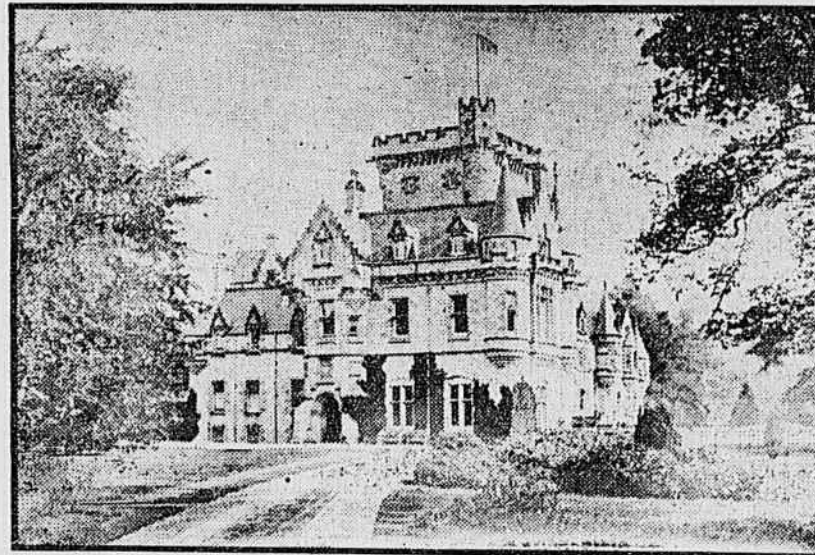

Miss EMILY RANDOLPH is very well known in society, especially in the east, as a daring rider.

Mrs. ANNA M. ALBRECHT, the only woman blacksmith in New York City.

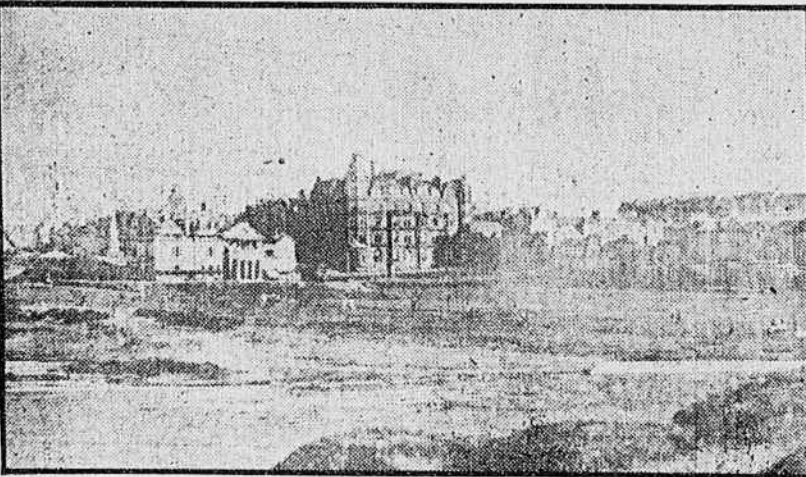

How the monster battleship FLORIDA, being built in the New York navy yard, looks.

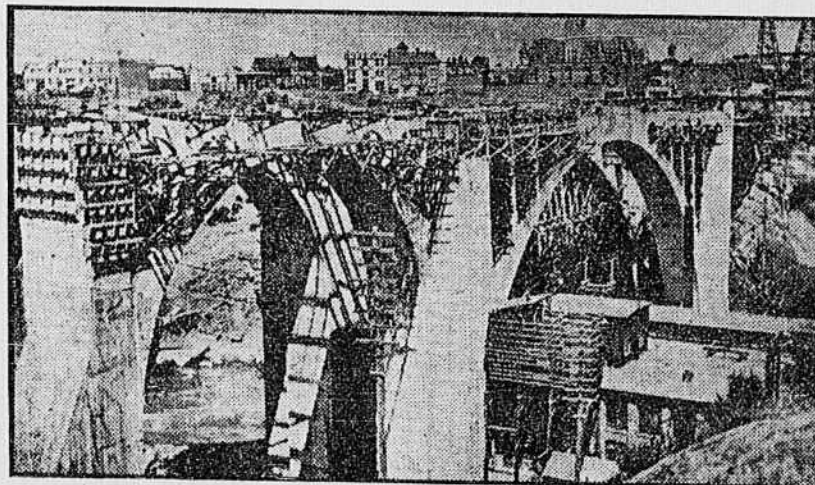

The English court has been moved to Balmoral Castle, in Scotland. The photograph shows May Hall, owned by Mackintosh of Mackintosh, chief of the Clan Chattan, one of the hosts of King George and Queen Mary.

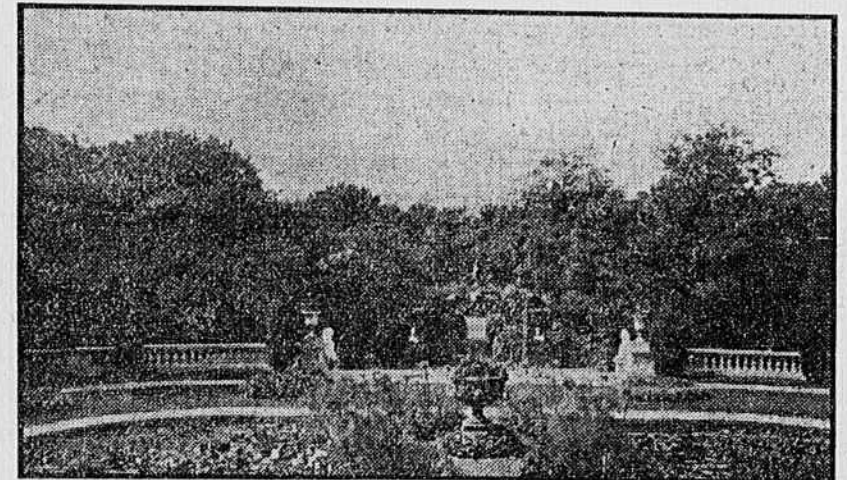

Scene in the Asbury Park, N. J., baby parade, the greatest thing of its kind in the world.

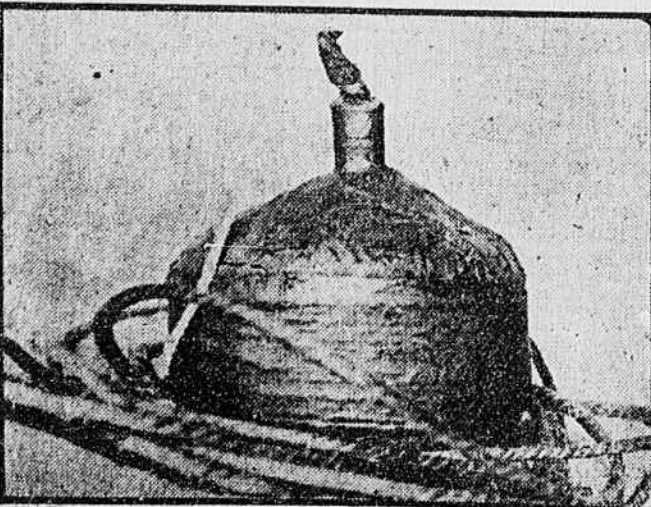

View of famous old St. Andrew's University, Scotland, from the golf links. St. Andrew's is to celebrate soon the five hundredth anniversary of its founding.

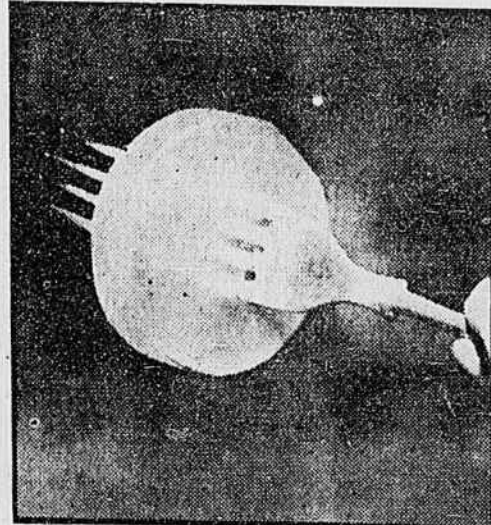

With the completion early this fall of the Monroe St. Bridge, Spokane, Wash., Spokane will have the longest single span re-inforced concrete bridge in the world.

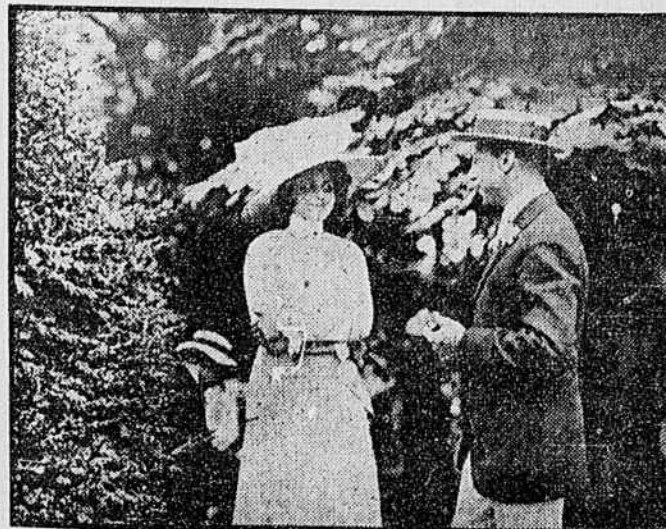

View in the garden of "Ballingary," summer home of Martin Maloney, the Philadelphia millionaire, at Spring Lake, N. J.

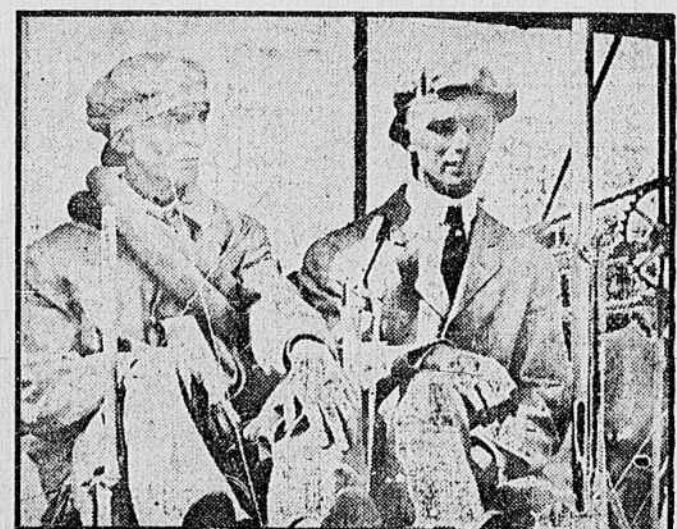

This is the bomb taken by the New York detectives on Sept. 5th, from GIUSEPPE COSTABILE, head of a Black Hand Gang.

This photo depicts a piece of solidified petroleum which has been placed on the market and will revolutionize the question of motor traction.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, who gave dance at Newport, which was denounced by Episcopal Bishop and clergymen.

Harry N. Atwood, the aviator, preparing to take up his father for a spin.